

ANDREW FRIENDLY PHOTOGRAPHER

With a primary focus in fashion imagery, Andrew embeds his artistic sensibilities into all of his work, editorial and commercial. His artistic practice began in his early teenage years when his obsession with nature led him to discover that a macro lens on the camera could see more than the naked eye ever would. He went on to earn his BA at USC School of Cinematic Arts where he began photographing his friends and stills for their short films. Soon he was shooting for independent fashion brands around the LA area and traveling outside the city for commissioned commercial work.
