

JAKE SHANE'S "THERAPUSS" SET DESIGN

When digital creator Jake Shane planned to launch a pod/vodcast show (titled THERAPUSS), he knew that he wanted to build a custom, at-home studio to record from. After speaking with the THERAPUSS team about their vision for the custom set, Interwoven immediately turned to rostered artist Connor Brock to lead the conception and execution of the project's complete stage design and artistic curation. Like with all of his projects, Connor's hands-on approach was evident, as he dove deep into the details and carefully scripted each element of the set's aesthetic appeal, as well as its grip/camera/lighting capabilities.

CREATIVE SPOTLIGHT

CONNOR BROCK
DIRECTOR & ART DEPT

Connor Brock is an award-winning commercial film director with a special eye for bringing heavily art-directed worlds to life. His hands-on style is easily recognizable through his vivid art design and set construction (which he typically will do all by himself). Attentive to each phase of the production process. His work on screen has been described as a 'visual delight to consume,' depicting satisfying worlds in which viewers find themselves immersed and enthralled.
