

THE DROPOUTS PODCAST

MUSIC VIDEO

When mega-creators Zach Justice and Tara Yummy of the Dropouts Podcast had the idea to shoot a music video for a running joke with their digital community that the two were romantically interested, the Interwoven Agency was eager to recommend rostered director Grace Tom for the job. Recognizing her talent for music videos and her ability to create excellent comedic timing, Interwoven placed Grace onto the project to lead the production efforts of the 2-day shoot. To support Grace and the Dropouts team, Interwoven's production unit jumped into action and orchestrated all facets of the pre-production, production and post-production processes. The result was a successful video launch for the Dropouts Media channel that amassed over 1M views in just 2 weeks.
